Invoicing Policy:
Invoices will be sent to you as products or items are shipped. If a portion of your order is on backorder, placed on hold by you, or subject to other holdups, you will only be invoiced for the products which have shipped. Separate invoices can be expected until your order has been completely fulfilled. If you are paying by Credit Card, an authorization (hold on funds) for the full amount of the order may be initiated just prior to the time of the initial shipment. For orders with multiple delivery dates, an authorization (hold on funds) may be initiated just prior to the time of each individual shipment and the remaining balance of the entire order will be authorized after the finalized charge for each completed shipment. Authorization (hold on funds) from your bank may be in effect for 1-10 days, depending upon your financial institution's rules. Only the invoiced amount of the goods shipped will be charged against your Credit Card. You are responsible for all bank fees for EFT/ACH payments, for both the remitting bank and receiving bank. Invoices are to be paid in full. Hamamatsu is not responsible for any associated fees unless explicitly agreed to in writing prior to invoicing.
